

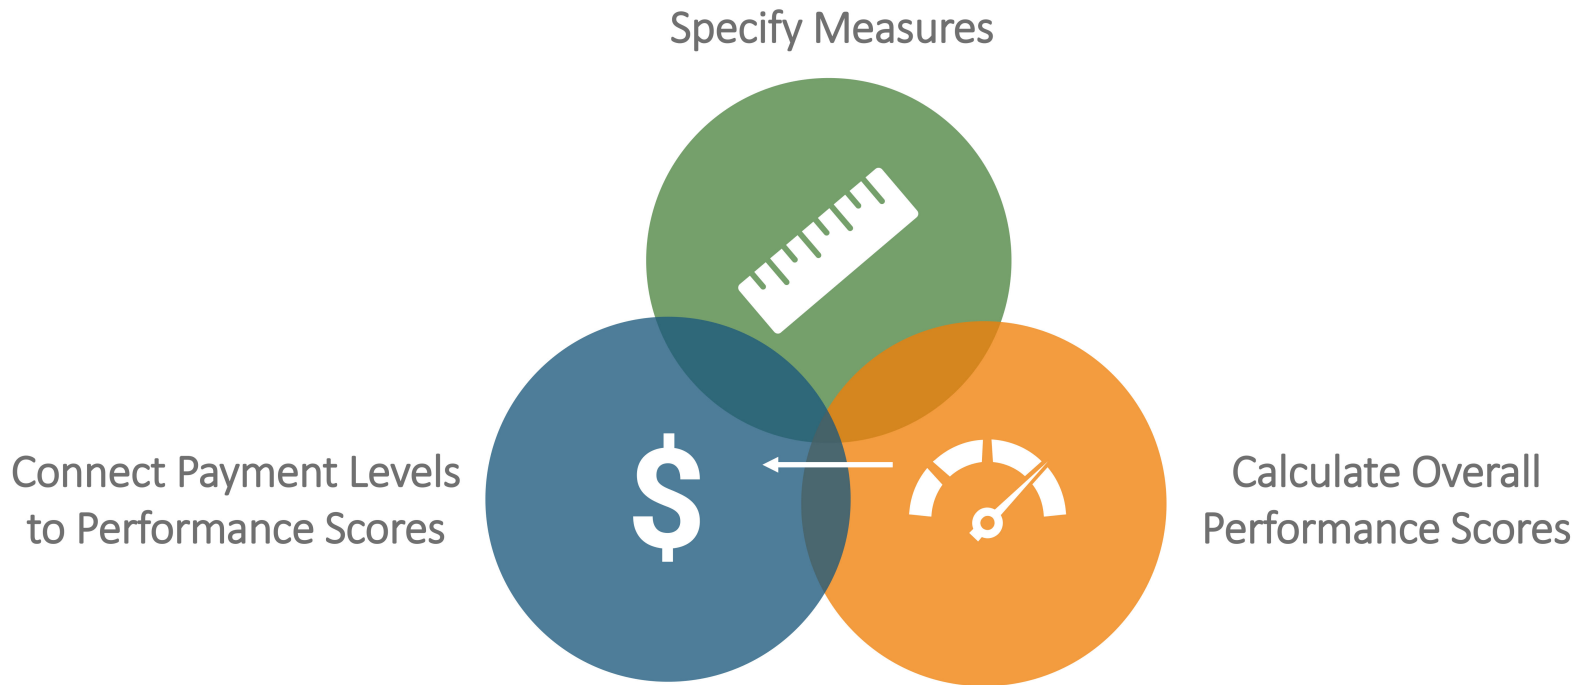

Figure 2 : Components of Measurement Systems

Measurement systems are comprised of three components, each of which is needed to reward providers who deliver high-value health care: 1) measure sets; 2) methods for evaluating performance on measures; and 3) methods for using performance assessments to adjust payments.